VERMONT PUBLIC UTILITY COMMISSION PUBLISHES APPLICATION CHECKLIST TO ASSIST NET-METERING CUSTOMERS

Montpelier, VT – On May 31, 2018, the Vermont Public Utility Commission (“Commission”) made it easier to apply for a certificate of public good (“CPG”) for a ground-mounted net-metering system with a capacity of more than 50 kW. The Commission has published a checklist to help net-metering customers ensure that their CPG applications are complete before they file. This will make it easier for all persons to review CPG applications and avoid unnecessary delays associated with incomplete applications. The checklist will also allow members of the public interested in a proposed net-metering project to see what information is expected to be included in a CPG application. Copies of the checklist may be found on the Commission’s website.

Today’s announcement is another step in the Commission’s ongoing efforts to increase the transparency and predictability of the net-metering CPG application process. More information about the net-metering program may be found online.

Information about net-metering applications currently under review by the Commission, including plans, application materials, and Commission orders, can be reviewed by the public.
